STORM BREAKS UP BIG TENT MEETING

PART OF THE AUDIENCE GET SPRINKLED.

While Evangelist Tells of Storm at Sea Nature Gives Demonstration on Land—Good Order Prevails and no One injured.

The story of Paul's shipwreck, as told in the 27th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, was selected as the subject of his sermon at the tent by Rev. Gypsy Smith, jr., last evening. The fact that the evangelist had spent nine years of his life as a sailor previous to entering the ministry enabled him to make use of apt and interesting illustrations, taken from some of his own stormy experiences while on the sea, in describing to his audience the important happenings which marked Paul's eventful trip. And as if to assist in making his description of the wind and storm which overtook the ship on which Paul was, still more realistic and impressive, nature took a hand in the proceedings, when the evangelist was in the midst of that part of his sermon and came on the scene with a real storm. The wind (and it was a south wind, too, the same kind the Bible tells us that Paul experienced) began blowing and was followed in a few moments by a drenching downpour of the wettest kind of rain. If the reader has any doubt regarding the latter statement, a large number of people whose word would be readily accepted in any court could be produced who would verify the truth of it and they might also be able to bring forth this morning numerous articles such as coats, hats, gowns and shoes still showing the effects of the storm, as further evidence.

In the most exciting part of the speaker's description of the euroclydon, which overtook the ship on the Mediterranean, what seemed to be an euroclydon struck the tent. The wind, for a short time, "blew great guns," lightning flashed and rain poured down in torrents. The roar of the elements and the swaying of the tent naturally caused alarm to many, and numbers arose from their seats and started towards the exits. The more composed members of the large crowd counselled all to remain in their seats, alleging there was no danger, although aware of the fact that there was cause for apprehension—not, however, so much from the elements but from panicky conduct on the part of some in the assemblage which was likely to cause a stampede. The evangelist grasped the situation at once, stopped preaching and started the choir to singing a hymn. The effect was magical, and the congregation joined heartily in the singing, while the storm was roaring, the rain coming through the tent and the electric lights going out. All the electric lights but one became "short-circuited" and went out. Occasionally some of the audience would manifest anxiety, but some pleasant remarks on the part of bystanders would nip the tremors in the bud and bring smiles to the faces of the anxious ones. The assembly was animated by the spirit of the songs which included "Dixie" "The Star-Spangled Banner," and "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean," which followed the gospel hymns.

Fortunately for all concerned, no serious accident occurred and although many people were given a bath with their clothes on free of charge, all got away safely.

The High school students were present in a body, 250 strong, part of them appearing in uniform. They gave their yells for evangelist Smith, the High school and Professors Blanton and Nolley who were also with them. Their flags and colors were given a prominent place on the platform. And how they all sang! There was also a delegation in attendance from the Washington Y. M. C. A.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Kensey Johns Hammond of St. Stephen's church, Culpeper, following which came the sermon, which, as above stated, Mr. Smith was compelled to cut short on account of the storm. It is possible he may deliver the sermon he intended to have preached last night on Friday evening next, therefore the Gazette withholds from its columns today any further reference to his remarks of last night, which were addressed particularly to the students.

Prayer meetings were held in 31 homes of the city yesterday which were attended by 491 women.

A meeting for men only will be held at the tent tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

CHURCH SERVICES

Activities of the Various Congregations of Alexandria

In a majority of the City churches there will be only the morning service and Sunday school tomorrow. The congregations will unite with the Tent service in the evening. A week from tomorrow, however, on the last Sabbath on which Gypsy Smith, Jr., will be here, the churches will be closed throughout the entire day, with one or two exceptions which will appear in the Gazette on next Saturday.

There is growing among the church people a strong predisposition to inaugurate many activities during the coming fall and winter to supplement the effect of the campaign. The Gazette proposes to keep in close touch with all these and trusts that the pastors and others connected with church work will take advantage of these columns in order to avail themselves of the publicity which has come to be regarded as a very essential and valuable factor in all religious effort.

Alexandria City News Condensed

The Daughters of America, Mount Vernon Council, met last night in Elks Hall. Several important matters were discussed.

Mr. A. McK. Lindsey left this week for Staunton where he will resume his studies at Augusta Military Academy.

Elder A. G. Uhler has returned from Culpeper, where he represented the Second Presbyterian Church of this city at the fall meeting of the Potomac Presbytery which was in session Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The Presbytery will meet next April in Washington.

Mrs. Frederick Russell, of the Fairfax Apartments, received word this morning of the death of her father, the Rev. Dr. George L. Hunt, in Broadhead, Wis, in which place he was pastor of the First Baptist Church. Mrs. Russell, accompanied by her son, Hunt, left this afternoon to attend the funeral which will probably occur on Monday.

An Alexandria lady who had been in Washington yesterday left an electric train at Spring Park about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon with the intention of visiting relatives on Duke street, extended. As the train began to move easterly down King street she remembered she had left her hand satchel in one of the cars. Unable to overtake the train, she told a bystander of her loss, and the latter, who had a wagon nearby, intercepted the train when it stopped at Payne street, but the missing property could not be located. A resident of the neighborhood telephoned to the railway station at Prince and Royal streets, and another search of the cars was made upon the arrival of the train, but no trace whatever of the satchel could be found. It contained a sum of money, jewelry and other valuables.

A letter from the border says "First Sergeant Deahl has just returned from a visit to relatives in Austin, Texas.

Prof. Forrest Coles will address the Sunday School of the M. E. Church tomorrow morning, at 9:30 o'clock.

The public schools of Alexandria county opened on Monday with an enrollement of twenty-three hundred pupils.

Mrs. Nellie V. Ramey left today for Atlanta, Ga., where she will spend the next three weeks.

Miss Laura Hoagland will sing a solo as an offertory at St. Paul's Church tomorrow morning.

Mr. James Sidney Douglas, jr., attended the dance at the Baltimore Country Club, Baltimore, Md., last evening.

Mrs. Grace Ale, who has been spending the last three weeks with her sister in Queen street has returned to her home in Spring City, Pa.

An invitation has been extended to the student body of the University of Virginia to join the choir for the Gypsy Smith, jr., evangelistic services which will be held in Charlottesville during October.

Mrs. Eliza Bayliss, widow of John Bayliss, died at her home 1011 Queen street at ten o'clock last night. Death was due to advanced age. Funeral services will be held at nine o'clock Monday from St. Mary's Catholic Church. Deceased is survived by two sons, John H. and William J. Bayliss.

Mrs. Lewis H. Machen of Richmond is the guest of Miss Kathrin G. Uhler in north Washington St.

A final decree has been granted Harry Wagoner in his suit for divorce against Minnie B. S. Wagoner, on the grounds of wilful and voluntary desertion and abandonment.

The thoughtfulness of certain of our citizens who own automobiles during the several hours' rain was falling last night is commendable, and the recipients of their courtesies are loud in their expressions of appreciation. Some of the machines were running until near midnight transporting people from the gospel tent to their homes. Most of the attendants at the meeting last night did not anticipate rain; hence they carried no umbrellas. Considerable rain was falling after the services, and many hundreds of persons, most of whom were women and children, found themselves far from their homes in darkness and rain. A number of automobiles, were parked near the tent, awaiting the appearance of those who had been brought in them to the meeting. Those operating the machines, after carrying the members of their families to their homes, whisked back as soon as possible, took on more human freight and told others to wait until they returned. They made many trips to and from the tent, filling the autos with passengers each time. In some cases the occupants sat in seats in each other's lap so crowded were the machines. Trips were made far into Del Ray in order to land visitors at their homes. There were no selections on the part of the operators of the machines—first come, first served was the principle. In one case an old and good citizen, who has long been blind, had been led to the tent by a little child. He was sought and placed in an automobile and with his attendant carried to his home. A piece of poetry in yesterday's Gazette told of a shoemaker entertaining Christ in the persons of certain unfortunate. If a cup of cold water given to a disciple is to be rewarded, the above good deeds will shine brightly in the good time to come.

THOMAS BROUGHT BACK

Negro Will Now Be Arraigned to Answer Charge of Entering and Robbing Store

Officer John Kern arrived here this morning from the Williamsburg Lunatic Asylum with William Thomas, colored, who is charged with breaking into and robbing the store of Sands Co., and stealing $175. The store was at that time situated on the southeast corner of Gibbon and Alfred streets. The robbery occurred on the night of November 27, 1915. Thomas, after being taken in custody was suspected of lunacy, and committed to the asylum. Recently, however, he became "clothed and in his right mind" He will be brought before the Corporation Court at the next grand jury term.

The only case before the Police Court this morning was that of Lee Walker, colored, who was charged with assaulting Nellie Pye, also colored. He was fined $2.50.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

To Be Held at Tazewell, September 26 to 29.

Owing to the fact of the distance and also that there are no matters of very special importance to be discussed none of the members of Allison Union, W. C. T. U. of this city, will attend the thirty-fourth annual state convention to be held in Tazewell, commencing on next Tuesday morning.

Mrs. J. H. Mansfield, secretary of the Union, who has been to Tazewell and many other points in connection with the affairs of the Union, says that the non-attendance of local women does not in any sense indicate that they are inclined to rest on their laurels now that they have accomplished their purpose in putting Virginia on the dry list. On the contrary, the women realize that there yet remains much to do in connection with the enforcement of the laws providing for prohibition.

One of the features of the convention will be the consideration of educational matters looking toward a spread of the prohibition sentiment in other states.

Oyster season open. When down town visit the Rammel Cafe.

COLLIDED WITH FOUNTAIN

While the tempest of rain, wind, thunder and lightning was raging between nine and ten o'clock last night an automobile containing three residents of Washington, ran into the drinking fountain at the intersection of Cameron and Royal streets. The fountain escaped injury, but the machine was badly damaged. The matter having been reported to the station house, Sergeant Roberts made an investigation and ascertained that J. W. Massey, J. H. Massey and B. Ramelly were the parties in the auto. Neither was injured.

Mr. Business Man:

As you know Summer has departed into the limbo of other summers. We trust that it has been a profitable one for you, but we wonder what it has left that you would willingly have gotten rid of. Unless you have had quite exceptional good fortune there must be left among your wares of whatever kind, material or article that it will not much profit you to keep until next year.

Of course you know your own business better than we do, but our knowledge of publicity, plus your own special knowledge, will make a winning combination—don't you think so?

Here is a suggestion that we offer you: Why not make a reduction on the price of some of this left over stuff and make announcement to that effect in the columns of the Gazette? It's not too late and Alexandria has its share of thrifty folks who have plenty of room at home—much more than you have on your shelves — for the storage of things they will want early next summer. That's the sort of far-thinking that gets people ahead in this world. It is not necessary to say more — you've got the idea, haven't you?

Yours for service,
THE GAZETTE.

THE RAMBLER.

Paragraphic Points Picked up by Our Man on the Street.

I heard a young fellow last night address an elderly man, who inadvertently pushed against him as he went by as a 'so and so wop.' The man returned no answer and went quietly on his way.

The more ignorant Americans are the most self-sufficient class of people on the top of the earth. They have the supposedly arrogant British backed into the shrinking lily class. One hears them use the terms 'Dago', 'Wop', 'Sheeney', 'Kike,' 'Mick', 'Chink,' with reference to certain classes of foreignors among us so frequently that they have become almost a recognised part of our language.

And yet, to be exact, a vast majority of the foreigners thus designated possess infinitely more innate refinement than our citizenry of Anglo-Saxon origin. One almost shudders when one considers what America would have been without the infusion of these foreigners who are so often despised.

Recently, we were told, in Everybody's Magazine ,that fifty per cent of the students in the leading art school of New York City came from among the poor Jews of the East side.

From among the families of the poor immigrants from Southern Europe came a vast majority of our musicians. In every branch of creative effort other ,perhaps, than writing, among the men and women who have attained distinction, we find a majority of those who are but a generation away from the men and women who are subject to the form of contemptuous address I have mentioned.

In our larger cities we find that the poorer foreigners form a large percentage of the attendants at all worth-while musical events ,the art galleries, and all those other institutions which elevate the character and inspire creative effort. They are filling an important part indeed in the forming of the composite American character. To ridicule them is to ridicule a part of the best of ourselves. Let us Alexandrians bear these facts in mind. We have some of those good people among us.

Many otherwise estimable people seem to pride themselves upon two little faults—having a quick temper and forming snap judgment. When you stop to think of it they should be a little ashamed of either for the reason that both qualities indicate lack of self control.

You may know people, as that term is understood, for many years, and yet not really know them at all. You sit opposite your own wife or husband for a score of years and yet, in reality, you can not actually assure yourself that you absolutely know what he or she thinks of you. At the very best the human face is the best mask yet devised and we are all, even the most sincere of us, more or less strutters upon the stage of life. So much is this true that we seem to be ashamed of and at times seek to mask even our noblest emotions. Good people seem even more anxious to hide their better impulses than evil people are to hide their unworthiness.

And it is strange, is it not, how we form opinions of people whom we have never seen. We judge them by the things we have heard of them. And most often, we are disappointed. And often again, because of some little fault which has been over-emphasized, we form an entirely erroneous opinion of people in whom we have become interested ,perhaps because of their work.

As an instance of this I talked with a very pleasant lady last night about O. Henry who, if he had lived, would have been 54 years old a few days ago. She has read many of his stories and had come to have an entirely mistaken opinion of his personality. I knew O. Henry. His real name was Sidney Porter. He drank very heavily at times and because of this many stories as to his dissoluteness are creeping round. But we who know him and love him, if only through his writings, know that there must have been much of great good in him. How else could he have divined human nature as he did and interpret it for us as he did? Some wise fellow recently has said that in order to be able to write well one must be a normal man with abnormal sympathies. I am not quite sure that he is right. The normal man does not get much among abnormal people; and when he does he is not able to understand them or the impulses which guide their actions. I think, and I believe that I have Emerson's concurrence in this thought, that men like Burns and Shelley and Poe and Byron were abnormal in many of their moods — hence their genius. And I believe that O. Henry ranks with these I have mentioned and others of their kind. It's a good and safe rule not be impatient with people whom you do not easily understand.

Sometimes some of us get a little 'swelled-up' and appear to forget that the Great Leveller may be waiting for us around the corner of the next half hour; and then some little old thing bobs up and we slither back to normal.

On King street, yesterday afternoon, an exquisitely groomed, elderly woman sat waiting for some one or other in a swagger automobile. On the curb nearby were a group of young men who were dressed in their working clothes, and who were rather exuberant in their language.

The woman eyed them very distastefully indeed. Her contempt was as conspicuous as her rather fiery-hued hair.

Suddenly a little black kitten approached the edge of the pavement and then ,after a brief reconnoitre, started to cross the street. It seemed not to have noticed the approach of a trolley car.

A little girl ran out of the door from whence came the kitten and screamed. A cry of alarm rose also to the woman's proudly pursed lips. In the flash of a second one of the loiistering young men, tensed and then sprang out to the rescue of the kitten. He snatched it from the rail barely in the nick of time. The woman hastened from the machine and met him at the curb. Tears stood in the corners of her eyes as she fondled the mite of black fur; they rolled unashamed down the cheeks of the child.

The woman, who knew neither the child nor the kitten, thanked the rescuer profusely. His tanned face had dyed to a darker red when he turned awkwardly away.

For a moment they were just three humans, forgetful of race or position, over a waif of the animal kingdom.

Its a great little old world, after all, isn't it?—when we get down to brass tacks and let Old Dame Nature have the right of way.

THEY ALL WANT TO GET ARMOR PLANT

MANY HEARINGS HELD AND MORE TO FOLLOW.

Southern Cities Anxious to Secure the New Industry—Alexandria's Delegation to Appear Before Secretary Daniels Next Friday.

Among the delegations which appeared before Secretary Daniels yesterday was one from Knoxville, Tenn. Others heard came from Jersey City, N. J., and Perth Amboy, N. J.

It is not believed that any of the three have any chance of securing the plant for the reason that the two New Jersey cities are too accessible to the ocean and a possible invading enemy. Knoxville would appear to be out of the running in that it is not believed by those in a position to know that the plant will go to an inland city.

The hearing of the Alexandria delegation will occur on next Friday. By that time it is said that at least a half dozen other Southern cities will have pressed their claims for the plant.

James T. Preston, secretary of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, discussing this morning the claims advanced by Washington, insisted that everything that could be said in favor of that city could also be said of Alexandria. In addition also he pointed to the fact that this city has superior advantages in the way of a greater choice of sites and, most important of all, greater facilities for the housing of laborers.

Men who have studied the situation are of the opinion that the labor question will be the most important of all to be considered in connection with the establishment of the plant. Large quantities of both skilled and unskilled workmen will be required. A majority of the men will be of the non-floating class who will want homes of their own or at least a permanent residence. The placing of the plant in Washington, Philadelphia, or any other large city would necessitate the living, on the part of the men, long distances away from the plant. Again, in the larger cities, there would be keen competition for the labor of the men employed. This sort of thing is already apparent in the big industrial centers where men of all classes are now at a premium.

The members of the local delegation are working untiringly and assembling every possible influence they can in readiness for their hearing. It is felt by all who are in touch with them that they will make an impressive showing. They are certainly deserving of the hearty support and gratitude of their fellow citizens.

DIREFUL PROPHECY.

We read that Ahasuerus had a beautiful queen named Vashti which he desired all men to see, and on one occasion, probably when in his cups at a banquet, he ordered her to be arrayed in her royal apparel and brought before the company. Vashti, very properly, declined to appear, which act placed the king in an uncomfortable position. Vashti had refused to obey the king's commandment, and had set an example which other Persian women were liable to follow—others were likely to disobey their husbands. The king's counselors advised him to demote Vashti, which he did, and the fear that women were about to use power and conduct the world's affairs was allayed. The beautiful Queen Esther became Vashti's successor, and the part she played in averting a massacre of the Jews by Haman is well known.

Wilbur F. Stone, music and art critic, globe-trotter and philosopher, has been sued for divorce in Chicago. Mrs. Stone charges cruelty and specifies that Mr. Stone tried to introduce German "efficiency" in the household, accompanied by severe discipline. Mr. Stone hands this prophecy to his fellow-man:

"The women of the world, without a Masonic organization, have a stronger banded force than the men. It is appalling. People do not realize it. Fifty years hence the men of this country and the world will have to arise and band themselves together to maintain their own rights. The handwriting is not only upon the wall—it is along every wayside.

"Repose no high confidence in the best woman in the world, for some sister will tell her about her neglect to exercise her rights. Modern society even penalizes a father for insisting that his children be clean. Under our present code of ethics a husband is convicted as soon as his wife or any other woman makes a false charge against him. Women's rights is rapidly coming to mean women's unbridled license. Do not, above all else, let a woman get control of the economical side of your existence. It is dangerous. I would not be here now if I had heeded such advice."

HORRORS OF WAR

It is stated that deaths of 5,200,000 persons are, so far, the result of the present war. The total casualties are 22,000,000. The number of totally disabled is placed at 1,500,000. The British losses are said to reach 800,000 Germany's 4,300,000 and Russia's 7,000,000. The worst sacrifice of life since the early days of the Verdun battle marked the vain German counter attack this week against the new French positions north of the Somme. According to an artillery officer who took part in the battle, the road from Combles to Rancourt is soaked with blood, and corpses are piled on each side in mounds sometimes 3 feet high.

Jackals and hyenas are creeping down from the mountains along the Serbian frontier and feasting on the bodies of Bulgars and Serbs, on the plains. Three hundred dead bodies piled in a heap in one ravine, were stripped of their flesh by jackals, hyenas and thousands of vultures that hovered over the battlefields in the day time. The Bulgars have been mowed down by machine guns. The advancing Serbs found only skeletons and bits of torn uniforms.

Up to September 15 the total losses of the allies on the Somme front were 500,000 men, according to estimates made in an official review of operations issued in Berlin, This fixed the British losses at 350,000, and the French at 150,000.

Three more Austrian Archdukes, have been ejected as the result of German influence from three important military commands.

Conrad Marun, 64 years old, shot and killed his wife, Margaret, 52 years old, and then killed himself at their home in Cleveland yesterday. Neighbors say the couple had been separated since June, the wife remaining in the home. She had been ill recently, and the husband had been coming in each day to help care for her.

Mgr. William T. Russell, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Washington, will be the next Bishop of Charleston, S. C., It is understood that the approval of the choice by the Bishops of the Catholic Province of Baltimore has come from Rome.

FRANCE'S WAR SPIRIT.

French sentiment in regard to the present war found a signal reflection in the chamber of deputies recently when a member suggested that the prsident of the council might find a way to bring the war to an end. Replying to that attempt to make propaganda, Premier Briand said that far from acquiescing in such a doctrine, it was his duty to suppress it. "your country, M. Brizon," admonished the premier addressing directly the propagandist, "has a splendid past, which should make you love her. This country was seized by the throat after her assailant had passed over the bleeding body of Belgium. To this country, which has the honor to be the champion of right and which has poured out its blood in floods, you say: 'Stop the war; negotiate peace.'" Whereat the chamber, we are told, arose and cheered vociferously. "What peace," asked the premier, "would M. Brizon make?" It could not be otherwise than "a peace of war," he told him, "and a menace to future generations." The brilliant president of the council, warming to his theme, remainded his hearers of the treacherous blow Germany tried to strike and failed. "Forty four years your country worked with a wound in her side," he continued, closing with this eloquent burst: "There already gleams on her forehead the aureole of prestige and glory. If you wish the ideals of justice to triumph, pray ardently for victory. Otherwise, there would be a peace humiliating and dishonorable and such as no Frenchman could desire." The Richmond Journal says no wonder the chamber, aroused to enthusiasm by the earnest peroration, voted that the speech should be printed and displayed on all public buildings throughout France. It was the voice of France itself that spoke, the outpouring of her inner conscience. Never again shall critics jeer at the dapper Frenchman or question his stability. Decadent? What, France? It ranks with the bravest and noblest nations of the earth.

GERMANY PLEADS INHUMANITY

It is hard to believe the Germans are serious in declaring that the use of the British "tanks" is an "inhumane" and "uncivilized" means of making war observes the Richmond Times-Dispatch. In the first place these armored motor cars are quite as legitimate as battleships and armored airplanes, so that on the merits of the case the charge is preposterous. In the second place, the emanation of this charge from the Germans is grimly amusing. For those who now protest are the people who invented and first used poison gases; they are the people who bombarded the unfortified town of Scarborough; they are the people who razed, sacked and ravished Belgium, and they are the people who torpedoed the Lusitania and the Sussex, and are even now urging a return to the most ruthless submarine warfare.

It is conceivable that some of the nations allied with the Teutonic cause might protest, with clean consciences, against some specific act of inhumanity; even the Turks would be granted a respectful hearing in a case involving the rules of civilized warfare. But if any nation can forfeit, on behalf of its people, the right to protest against inhumanity, Germany has done so; it comes into court with fouled hands.

EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS

The day is coming when Teddy will at least understand that, politically, he is as extinct as the ichyosaurus, the bustle, the taking of a man's word in business, and the family altar.

No, Gladys, you are wrong. Free verse is so-called because most of it is written for nothing; otherwise it would not be printed.

According to The Outlook, the outlook is very bad for Mr. Wilson, but then The Outlook has not the perspicacity it used to have. Since its connection with Mr. Roosevelt it has suffered from fatty degeneration of the thinker.

The coming Episcopal General Convention proposes to revise the Ten Commandments. The linotype man says he never heard of 'em.

The Republican National Committee is wasting a lot of good paper and ink telling how Pinchot and Robins and other big bugs intend to vote for Hughes. Its nice to know, of course, but the ordinary chap's an independent sort of duck nowadays and not a sheep that follows a leader.

Even the Republicans seem to have recognised the fact that workers nowadays don't carry dinner buckets. They are mostly so well-dressed that when they do pack a lunch its in an imitation camera.

HUGHES'S KEY CANNON.

The attempts of Candidate Hughes to inject sectionalism into the campaign he is making in futile hopes that he is to be elected President of the United States are becoming more ridiculous daily. His invasion of the West has proven a dismal failure, from the fact that sectionalism and the bloody shirt have long since been buried out of sight. Half a century has elapsed since both sections of the United States were brought together, and the cement used on that occasion is sticking faster than the famous Aunt Jamima plaster. Marriages and intermarriages have taken place between the progeny of ex-Confederates and ex-Federals, and people who attempt to talk sectionalism soon find themselves persona non grata.

Since 1889 annual reunions have been held of the survivors of the Army of Northern Virginia living in Alexandria. These gatherings take place on the 19th of January. Congressmen, from different sections of the country often make speeches on such occasions. A year or two ago Congressional guests from the west were present. One gentleman from that section laid special stress upon the fact that former Confederates and former Federals mingled in reunions, and that the best of feeling prevailed.

At that time some of our best citizens who had been Union soldiers were guests of R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, and the enthusiasm became so pronounced that calls were made for these representatives of the wearers of the blue. What they said was ex animo—literally from their souls—and the applause which they received was earnest.

Mr. Hughes had better get out of the political graveyard and cease to decipher tombstones which have so long remained undisturbed.

STILL USING THE ROD

There is a story to the effect that a tourist in passing through a rural district saw an old man perched upon a rail fence crying. The stranger advanced and asked the man what was causing him so much distress, when the old man replied, "My father whipped me." The tourist, astonished to learn that the father of such an elderly looking man was still living, asked to be directed to his house. Upon reaching the domicile he was met by a venerable resident of the neighborhood, who asknowledged he was the father of the distressed man. The tourist asked him if it was true that he had used a stick on the old fellow on the fence, and wanted to know what the latter had done to merit such treatment. The man replied, "The young rascal threw stones at his grandfather." Thefollowing has a bearing upon the above story:

William MacCormack, 100 years old, asked the police of Elizabeth, N. J., last night to assist him in finding his gray-haired son, William, Jr., 60 years old, who disappeared a few days ago following a spanking administered by the centenarian. "If you find my boy" the aged father told Chief of Police Michael Mulcahy, "tell him to return and I will be less severe with him in the future."

Last week the father, who conducts a boarding house, asked Judge Owen P. Mahon to "approve officially" of the spanking. Judge Mahon sentenced the "boy" to four days in the Union county jail for disorderly conduct. When William, Jr., was released he immediately disappeared.

Get Rid of That Miserable Feeling.

There are few diseases that make one feel more miserable than a disordered stomach. Mrs. A. Wingate, Gorham, N. Y., writes: "I began using Chamberlain's Tablets about five years ago. At that time I was having a great deal of trouble with my stomach. I suffered great distress due to indigestion and constipation. Nothing did me much good until I got Chamberlain's Tablets." CHURCH IMPROVEMENT.

Growing Congregation of the Del Ray Methodist Church Adding to its Building.

The work of installing a new steam heating plant in the Del Ray M. E. Church has necessitated the raising of the main building three or four feet. In addition the seating capacity of the church is being enlarged. It is expected that the work will be completed in two or three weeks and before the coming of cold weather.

Under the leadership of the Rev. E. V. Regester the membership of this congregation has grown rapidly of late. During the last year 70 new communicants were added to the church rolls.

The improvements are all in the hands of local workmen at an estimated cost of about $2,000.

JUST A WORD

To the Alexandria High School Scholars.

Do you know that Mark Twain and scores of others of the foremost American writers began their career as writers for their home town papers? It is a fact?

The Gazette is going to try to publish all the news of Alexandria. Do you want to help? You are offered the chance of pleasant, profitable and instructive work and you will be given any needed assistance in writing.

If you think this worth while, come in and talk the matter over with Mr. Hard, the Gazette's editor. He will be glad to trade five minutes with you at any time.

Do not think you cannot do the work. He will take pleasure in explaining and showing you how.

Death overtook 174 persons while walking on tracks, swinging trains, or otherwise trespassing on the property of the Southern Railway during the year ended June 30.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emey, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work.

I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

CHEERFUL WORDS

For Many an Alexandria Household.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove helpful to hundreds of Alexandria readers.

Mrs. A. Waring, 304 north Patrick street, Alexandria, says: "I suffered awfully at times from my back and inflammation of the bladder. I used to be in such misery during these attacks that I had to have injections of morphine to relieve the pain. The kidney secretions caused me terrible suffering and the pains in the top and back of my head nearly drove me insane. I often got so dizzy that I could hardly keep from falling and I felt sick all over. Nothing did me any good until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at E. S. Leadbeater & Son's Drug Store. Several boxes stopped that awful pain in my back and head and made by kidneys normal."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Waring had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

OUR BOYS LOSE MEDAL

Alexandria Youths Eclipsed in Mischievousness By Richmond Youngsters.

It was stated in the Gazette recently that Dan Rice, the circus clown of ante bellum days, had a medal struck for Alexandria boys, as he regarded them as the most mischievous of any city he had visited. Our youth may be addicted to serious practical jokes at times, but, according to the following, Rice would be forced to take the medal elsewhere were he "on the road" today.

Prayer meeting at Laurel Street Methodist Church in Richmond was delayed about a half hour Thursday night while a gang of young rowdies held at bay the janitor of the church with an iron rod, preventing him from opening the building and preparing it for the religious services. Only after members of the church had summoned the police was the gang dispersed and the church allowed to engage in its worship.

It is stated that for about a year the neighborhood has been terrorized by this gang, which is said to consist of twenty-five youths ranging in age from fourteen to eighteen years. The church and its members have been made the victims of innumerable offenses by the young ruffians. Church members were constantly annoyed when they attended services, windows in the church demolished by rocks and the church property frequently damaged by the youthful toughs.

Chronic Dysentery.

"An old gentleman of this town who was almost at the point of death with chronic dysentery some time ago and had given up all hope of recovery was induced to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. One dose stopped the discharge, and after taking a few more doses he was completely cured," writes J. L. Baer, West Manchester, Pa. "Many residents of Baer's Station can testify to the truth of the above and were aware of the old gentleman's condition." Obtainable everywhere.

AN ECHO OF WAR TIMES

Survivors of Eighth Illinois Cavalry Write to Mayor Fisher For Information.

Mayor Thomas A. Fisher has received the following letter which explains itself:

The Hon. Mayor, Alexandria, Va.;

Dear sir—Yesterday the 8th Illinois Cavalry held its 51st annual re-union at the Soldiers' Memorial Hall in this city. There were 51 comrades and many of their wives and children registered. In the winter of 1861-2 the regiment wintered in Alexandria, and while there, the loyal ladies' of your city, presented the regiment with a beautiful silk flag, which we carried through those four years of strife, and it floated over the regiment, amid the din and smoke of battle, in most of the engagements fought by the army of the Potomac, and when peace was declared, we brought it with us home, to the state of Lincoln, Grant and Logan, with not a star dimmed, and have it now in a glass cabinet, in memorial Hall, where each year we meet in re-union. There is an inscription on it, which reads "Presented to the 8th Ill., Cav., in 1861 by the loyal ladies of Alexandria, Va." At our meeting yesterday, a committee was appointed to try and get in touch with those dear loyal ladies or any one of them, or if none of them can be located, then perhaps with some daughter, who may know of the circumstance, with a view of sending them hearty greetings, now after 55 years have passed since the brave and patriotic occurrence took place, for at the time, their state had conout, and was the most disloyal state of all, for it contained the capitol and produced the great Gen. R. E. Lee.

Your Hon. I ask your pardon for the liberty I have taken, in addressing you, but I know no one in your city, nor the name of your newspaper, or should have "governed myself accordingly". We are very anxious to hear from those ladies, but will not impose upon you, by asking you to try and find them, but if you will kindly call the attention of one of your newspapers to the matter, perhaps they would help us to get in touch with some of them. In the fall and winter of 1864 we were engaged in entertaining Col. John Mosby's men, and were at times royally entertained by them, for they were royal entertainers. We liked them for their daring, they were a brave bunch and we have met a few of them as warm friends since the war. I am inclosing a partial list of the engagements that we participated in, and where the aforesaid flag was in evidence.

Thanking your Hon. in advance for the favor, I am very truly yours,
E. A. WORRELL,
5538 So. Park Ave.
Chairman Committee.

A member of the Gazette staff well remembers the incident referred to above. The donors of the flag have doubtless long since paid the debt of nature. It is probable that we published an account of the presentation of this flag, but as the Gazette building was totally destroyed by fire presumably by members of the Eighth Illinois Cavalry in the early part of 1862, the files of what was then known as the "Local News" went up in smoke.

The publication of the Alexandria Gazette was suspended for a time in 1861, until early part of 1862, when the office was burned. The circumstances leading up to this event have often been described. Rev. Mr. Stewart, was conducting services in St. Paul's Church, on a Sunday morning in the early part of the year 1862, and ignoring the part of the services which requires prayer for the President of the United States, was arrested, by members of the Illinois regiment who were present. The Gazette resented the act of the soldiers and the office was destroyed on the following Monday night.

The chaplain of the regiment published a history of that command after the close of the war. In referring to the burning of the Gazette office, the writer states that the fire was accidently, but he significantly places an interrogation mark in parentheses at that point in his narrative. About a year ago when the reunion of the Grand Army of the Republic was held in Washington, survivors of the Illinois regiment visited this city. One of them, accompanied by two women ,was met by the Gazette representative at Prince and Royal streets. The latter called the visitor's attention to the burning of the Gazette office, and suggested that the Illinoisan knew all about it. The latter smiled, and when he was told of the paragraph in the history referred to, he made no attempt to refute the charge urged against the command for over half a century. The Eighth Illinois Cavalry relieved the Eighty-Eighth Pennsylvania Infantry which had previously performed guard duty in Alexandria. It was believed that this command were parties to the outrage.

BISHOP PETERKIN DEAD

Had Been For Over Half Century Head of Episcopal Diocese of Virginia.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Sept. 23—Rt. Rev. Bishop George W. Peterkin, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of West Virginia, died here yesterday afternoon after being in failing health for a year and a half. He was 75 years old and was born in Washington county, Md.

After serving in the Confederate army during the civil war, rising to the position of aide on the staff of General W. N. Pendleton, he completed his preparation for the priesthood. He served as assistant rector at St. James' Church, in Richmond, later was rector of the church at Culpeper, Va., and of Memorial Church, Baltimore.

Chosen first bishop of the diocese of West Virginia in 1878, Bishop Peterkin remained in that high position until his death. More than a year ago he offered his resignation to the Council of the Diocese, but it was refused. He was permitted, however, to retire from active work, and Bishop Co-Adjutor, W. L. Gravatt, of Chales Town, was made the acting head of the diocese.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Miss Mary Peterkin, and by one son, Major W. G. Peterkin, of this city.

Bishop Peterkin was twice married first to Miss Constance Gardner Lee, of Alexandria, and in 1884 to Miss Marion McIntosh Stewart, of Brook Hill, a sister of the late Mrs. Joseph Bryan, of Richmond.

(The Bishop had many friends and acquaintances in Alexandria, as he often visited our city).

600,000 MEN STRIKE

Big Labor Demonstration in Aid of New York Carmenons

New York, Sept. 23—Organized workers in virtually every industry in Greater New York were formally called upon late yesterday to cease work at 8 o'clock next Wednesday morning in sympathy with striking traction employes. Labor leaders assert that approximately 600,000 men and women are involved.

The call was embodied in resolutions adopted at a conference of labor leaders representing the federated bodies in all the boroughs of the city, as well as many national and international unions. The call, it was said would be issued not only to organized workers in New York, but also to those in Westchester county, in which the cities of Yonkers, New Rochelle and Mount Vernon are situated, and would extend over a wide range of industries.

The call is based upon the proposition that union men "cannot maintain their self respect" if they ride upon cars operated by strikebreakers, according to a statement issued last night by Ernest Bohm, secretary of the Central Federated Union. In cases where contracts exist, Bohm said, the employers will be notified that the workers have no means of transportation, and if the employers cannot provide transportation, the workers must remain at their homes.

"Union employes will not risk their lives by riding on cars operated by green motormen and protected by policemen." Mr. Bohm said. Neither can they ride on such cars operated by green motormen and protected by policemen." Mr. Bohm said. Neither can they ride on such cars and retain their self respect as union men.

"The general tie-up will come because employers of union labor will not provide their employes with means of transportation to and from work to enable them to stay off the dangerous strike-breaking cars of the several traction lines."

Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the New York Railways Company, reiterated his determination not to meet representatives of the striking carmen.

"If I did so the loyal men in the Interborough brotherhood would have good cause to strike." he said. "Besides, there is no reason for negotiations. There is no strike. We are carrying more people in the subway, on the elevated and in the Steinway tubes than ever before.

Delegates to the Central Federated union, representing 125,000 workers in allied trades, voted unanimously last night to ratify the strike call. This action followed a similar step taken several days ago by representatives of 200,000 members of the United Hebrew Trades.

Delicious fried oysters at the Rammel Cafe, season now open.

"My son nineteen years of age suffered frequently from bilious attacks. My husband brought home a bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets and began giving them to him. They helped him right away. He began to eat heartily and picked up right along." writes Mrs. Thomas Campbell, Kirkville, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.

ALEXANDRIA'S CITY MARKET.

What a Gazette Representative Saw in the Picturesque Old Place During a Brief Call This Morning.

If one may judge from his appearance, a white leghorn rooster, surrounded by a miniature harem of five snow-white lady hens, was one of the most important occupants of the market-place on Royal and Cameron streets this morning. He was an individual who would provoke the envy of even Rostrand's Chanticleer. His comb was redder than the deepest lued coral, his coat whiter than Arctic snow, his eyes brighter even than those of a maiden awaiting her lover. Who could have the heart to fricassee him? But, alas! if the housewife knows her business that's what will happen. In spite of his noble appearance we wager that he'll be awful tough.

The market-place represents the democracy of democracy. Here meet the urban and the rural in a fellowship in which dollars and cents play an important but not entirely principal part. And the people from the country seem so anxious to please you with their products of field, hennery and garden. And how well they mingle the aesthetic with the practical and prosaic. There were wild flowers with the dew still on them, bunches and bunches of Golden rod and the more prim products of cultivation.

The deep seas and the rivers contributed toll in the shape of fish of many kinds. The succulent oyster now for a season come again into his own was there also in abundance.

Sweet potatoes, and the ordinary kind erroneously called Irish, and expensive enough to take rank with the luxuries of the table, brought reminder of the Sir Walter Raleigh who first took them from Virginia to the court of his lady love, the haughty Elizabeth, for whom he named the colony. There were grapes also, big and little, sweet and sour, side by side with the formerly humble bean which is going to be so dear this winter that it is reported the Bostonians are panic stricken. There also were ears of sweet corn, gleaming as green as the water of mid-ocean under a tropical sun, and tomatoes suitable for eating right now or pickling for the delight of the palate in the sombre winter time when only the rich may eat green vegetables unless they are satisfied with the somewhat saviorless products of Florida and California which have lost their freshness in the cold storage cars in their several thousand-mile journey.

But why enumerate? Nearly every house-wife in Alexandria journeyed to market place this morning. And those who did not should not fail to do so next Saturday morning. Next to the delight of growing and picking the fruits of the earth one's self is that of getting it fresh from the hands of those who did.

LEGAL NOTICES

Commonwealth of Virginia, In the Circuit Court of the City of Alexandria, on the 5th day of September, 1916.

Maude Scott Lucas, Complainant. Vs. In Chancery. William R. Lucas, Defendant.

An affidavit having been duly made, as required by law, that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Virginia, and that he cannot be found within the jurisdiction of this State and the sergeant having made a return upon the original process or summons issued herein that the defendant is a non-resident of his bailiwick, and application having been duly made in writing before the Clerk of this Court for an order of publication against the said defendant to appear and answer a bill in chancery filed by the complainant against the defendant for an absolute divorce on the grounds of wilful and voluntary desertion and abandonment for more than three years prior to the institution of this suit, and an order of publication having been duly granted by the Clerk of this Court, it is therefore ordered that said defendant do appear here within 15 days after due publication hereof to answer the suit of complainant against the defendant for an absolute divorce on the grounds of wilful and voluntary desertion and abandonment for more than three years prior to the institution of this suit, and to do what may be necessary to protect his interest in this suit. And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published once a week for four successive weeks in the Alexandria Gazette, a newspaper published in Alexandria, Virginia, and that a copy of this order be sent by registered mail by the Clerk of this Court to the last known place of address, residence and abode of defendant, to-wit 1229. 12th, Street, N. W., Washington, D. TO ORGANIZE FOR CAMPAIGN

Meeting Called for Next Wednesday Evening.

Strong interest is being evinced in the proposal of the Democratic City Committee to hold a mass meeting on next Wednesday night, in the office of Howard W. Smith, for the purpose of taking steps towards organizing a Wilson-Marshall-Carlin Club. At this meeting, over which Charles Bendheim will preside, arrangements will be made to wage an active campaign in favor of the candidates named and for the support of the party in general.

The meeting will open at 8 o'clock and a large attendance is expected.
